

A Caregivers Guide for Helping Alzheimers and Stroke Victims Manage Memory

The purpose of this guide is to help caregivers help victims of Alzheimers or stroke to more effectively manage memory.

Professional healthcare workers providing care can also use this information. This guide will help you specifically concentrate on things you can do as you interact with your loved one in the daily activities of caring. Of course, you will never be able to do all of them. Select only those you believe will aid in your unique situation.

In Part I the author describes several strategies from his experiences with Alzheimers patients that uniquely helped caregivers of Alzheimers patients. In Part II the author provides strategies that are more effective for stroke victims. All of the strategies can, however, be used interchangeably with Alzheimers and stroke victims. In Part III the author offers suggestions that will support you in coping with the stresses of caregiving.
