

Washington State Magazine :: Summer 2010 (2009)

Washington State Magazine covers news and issues of interest to Washington State University faculty, staff, students, and alumni, and the people of Washington from Seattle to St. John. In the Summer 2010 issue:

Features

Dear Reader :: A printed magazine story sits alone on a page with relatively little competition for the readers attention. An online story sits only a few keystrokes from a torrent of other stories, tweets, videos, free classifieds and emails. And why exactly does this matter? by Eric Sorensen

Time Out in the World :: Today's graduates aren't just dropping into the rat race. They're going to Africa, South America, Seattle and Spokane. They're out to see the world and make a difference. by Hannelore Sudermann

The Academic Library in the Age of Google :: Information naivete suggests a broader blind faith in the offerings of Google mirroring a general faith in technology that in some ways defines our culture and propels our economy. by Tim Steury

Big Ideas :: We delve into WSU's rich intellectual history, listing some of the great ideas and discoveries that have come out of our institution. by staff writers

Essay

Booked: The Long Sentence of an Apprentice Reader :: What would it mean to refuse connectedness? Is it even possible? by Bill Morelock

77 Panoramas :: You, too, can run a nuclear reactor :: WSU myths and legends :: Interview with Michael Pollan :: Cougs behind the camera

Departments :: FIRST WORDS :: LETTERS :: SPORTS: Bill Moos Back from the ranch :: IN SEASON: The best berries :: LAST WORDS: World of Mateo: The work of Matthew Leiker Tracking The Adventure Cougs :: Dan Nelson 8925,000 miles of trails :: Derren Patterson 07 Dangerous beauty :: Annie Thiessen 99 The pace maker
