

A Gardeners Year - Fennels Journal - No. 9

A Gardeners Year is for those who love plants and outdoor places. But its more than a record of horticultural activities through the seasons. Its about having a dream and making it come true. This dream may, for many, be about growing plants from seed and then seeing them bloom, or harvesting vegetables for the table. But for Fennel, who has spent half his life working in gardens, its about a bigger vision: finding a rural cottage where he can create a garden and aspire to a self-sufficient life. The Journal sees him sow the seeds of this future reality. Fennels Journal is the heartfelt and entertaining account of one mans search for an old-fashioned and peaceful rural life. Written by eccentric English countryman Fennel Hudson, the Journal traces his attempts to balance the pressures of modern living by following the mantra of Stop Unplug Escape Enjoy.

About the author: Fennel Hudson is a countryside and lifestyle author known for his Fennels Journal publication and Fennels Priory website. He is a traditionalist who values old-fashioned things and champions a relaxing and peaceful rural life. Much of his writing centres on what he calls The Quiet Fields those quiet corners of the landscape where time moves slowly and nature exists undisturbed.
