

Tips for childrens health: For a better care of children

Even in bed, I want to remain useful. It is with this sentence that Dr Jamil Zogheib initiated this book. Dr Jamil is a pediatrician who practiced medicine for twenty years. He has been paralyzed from head to toe since June 2011. However, he wrote these pages with Tobbis Eye Tracker, a special computer system. This is his second book. While the first one is an autobiography, this one is purely medical. He puts in words the knowledge gathered over the years, his research on the internet and his experience during his pediatric practice. This book, of seventy carefully selected chapters, covers the most frequent issues and problems encountered in children, from birth to adolescence. Every parent, new or old, will benefit from this information on childrens care, just as much as any caregiver, making their tasks easier and keeping them more informed.
