

Hospice Aide On-The-Go-In-Service Lessons: Vol. 1, Issue 5: Comfort Measures for the Terminally Ill Patient

This lesson on Comfort Measures for the Terminally Ill Patient includes a complete in-service training packet. It takes approximately one hour to complete and fully meets the Medicare in-service training requirement for one hour of hospice aide training. The lesson is easy to use and written specifically for hospice aides. As aides need training, simply copy the pages from each lesson as needed; the only restriction is that aides receiving training must work from your office location. Remember, your hospice aides must have 12 hours of in-service training every year.

LESSON OBJECTIVES
Upon completion of this program, the hospice aide will be able to:
List three common symptoms that occur in the terminally ill
Name three strategies that provide pain relief and Describe comfort measures for shortness of breath and dry mouth

OVERVIEW
People often associate suffering with the end of life. Studies show that as many as 50 percent of patients dying with cancer or other illness experience unrelieved symptoms during their final days. Patients in a palliative care or hospice program benefit when a hospice aide is knowledgeable about comfort measures. Managing pain, the most common symptom of terminal illness, requires a set of unique skills. Knowing how to provide comfort measures during the care process can make the difference between adequate care and excellent care for the dying patient.
