

Practical Sports Development

This guide is aimed at both practising leisure managers, particular sports development officers and leisure students. The guide covers both the theory and practical aspects of sports development with main section on development, strategies, work programmes, monitoring and evaluation methods and the roles of the various sports agencies. Written with reference to, and in the context of, compulsory Competitive Tendering, current education reform, the children Act and service development. It is aimed at sports development officers (within sports development units at local authority leisure departments), senior leisure management, leisure managers, students of leisure at educational establishments.
