

Practice of Equine Medicine, a Manual for Students and Practitioners of Veterinary Medicine Arranged With Questions and Answers, With an Appendix ... for the Horse and the Dog (Classic Reprint)

Feeling that the students and practitioners of Veterinary Medicine have long been in need of a condensed work on Theory and Practice of Equine Pathology, the author has put forth his energy in their behalf. He hopes that his efforts will not be misunderstood, as a small work like this cannot and is not intended to be as complete as larger ones. If this will be a help to students in getting their degrees and in passing the State Boards, and to the busy practitioner for quick reference, then his efforts have not been misplaced. The author has used as concise and as plain language as possible, often at the expense of grammatical precision. Some of the prescriptions in the Appendix are those I have used in practice, while others are among some selected from divers places, but whose authorship is unknown to me. The following are the writers freely referred to: Professors Jas. L. Kobertson, A. F. Liaitard, W. Williams, F. Dunn, Wm, Robertson, Friedberger and Frohner, Jas. Law, A. Smith, Wm. Osier, Wm. H. Thomson, Loomis, Pepper, Flint, and others. I am indebted to Professor Eoscoe E. Bell for his valuable assistance in correcting proof, and to my brother, F. E. Hanson, D.V.S., who has kindly assisted me in preparing the Index. In conclusion, I would ask and highly appreciate any suggestions A which the readers may feel disposed to make for the improvement of the work. THE AUTHOR.
