

Selma Lagerlofs Words of Love and Wisdom

Selma Lagerlof (1858-1940) is one of Swedens best-loved storytellers. In 1909, she became the first woman and the first Swede to win the Nobel Prize for Literature. Her writings are among the treasures of world literature. Her subtle wit and wisdom sparkle with a romantic, legendary cast of characters. Why should love only be healed by love? from The Ball at Ekeby. She neither loved nor hated she understood them all. He that understands does not hate. Love is strong when it has gone through the fire of pain from The Auction of Bjerne. This new book includes selections from Lagerlofs literary works representative of her keen observations, both the profound and the witty.
