

Cape Summer and the Australians in England

Alan Ross (1922-2001) - distinguished poet, travel writer, and editor of London Magazine - also managed to excel in the role of cricket correspondent for the Observer, in which capacity he followed England/MCC on tours of Australia, South Africa and the West Indies. In the book-length accounts he published of these tours, his lifelong love of the game found glorious expression. Cape Summer and the Australians in England (1957) treats the 1956 Ashes series, memorable above all for the bowling performance of Jim Laker; and the following winters MCC tour to apartheid South Africa, where one of Englands strongest ever sides had an unexpectedly tough contest and where, as ever, Rosss discerning eye and finessing pen were alive to dimensions of the game beyond the boundary rope.
