

The Amazing Pop-up Stonehenge

Who built Stonehenge? How and when was it built? And why? This book, aimed at the inquisitive child (and adult) looks at these questions and with the aid of innovative paper technology, attempts to answer them. Through the use of pop-ups the book shows how the massive stone blocks were transported and erected by our Neolithic ancestors. It also tries to explain what the site was used for and why our distant ancestors put so much effort into building it. Written by TV historian and Stonehenge expert Julian Richards, this unique book is an excellent starting point for anyone interested in this mysterious and magnificent monument.
