

Home Health Aide On-the-Go In-service Lessons: Vol. 11, Issue 7: Understanding MRSA

OVERVIEW A homecare-associated infection is an infection that the patient may get while under the care of the agency. There are different types of infections that include urinary tract infections, blood stream infections, skin or tissue infections, gastrointestinal infections, and eye infections. This in-service teaches home health aides to define and recognize the symptoms of methicillin-resistant Staphylococcus aureus (MRSA) and vancomycin-resistant enterococci (VRE) infection. Aides will learn how MRSA is spread and how to prevent this within the home.

LESSON OBJECTIVES After completion of this program, the home health aide will be able to:

- Define a homecare-associated infection
- Understand the seriousness of a MRSA and VRE infection
- Identify patients at risk for MRSA/VRE infection
- Identify signs and symptoms of infection
- Implement MRSA/VRE precautions

Contents of this lesson:

- A clearly written fact sheet
- A 10-question post-test to measure understanding of the subject matter
- An answer sheet with a place for the instructors comments and signature
- An illustrative, homecare-specific case study
- Suggested supplemental learning activities
- An attendance log and certificate of completion
