

Wilderrotter Wineries Cookbook

A message to you the reader, from Maggie and Jay Wilderrotter, the owners of Wilderrotter Wineries. When we began to realize our dream of creating wine, Jay became an expert in all the skills of a vintner, farmer of grapes, and oenologist. It was a long road but one filled with learning, excitement and joy. We are very blessed to have two sons who love what Wilderrotter Winery represents, and want to carry our dreams as theirs, into the next generation. It is our very great pleasure to share these recipes with you, created for us by our dear friend Lorraine Segil, at her Little Farm in Southern California. Good wine, good food, good friends, and good health what else could one wish for! This cookbook features some of our wines and olive oil - and every year we come out with more wonderful and aromatic wines to share with you. Check on our website www.wilderrottervineyard.com for the wines that are currently available. And enjoy these recipes - they are easy to make, fresh and delicious and creatively use a variety of different textures and tastes. The Story behind Wilderrotter Vineyard and Winery..as told by Jay Wilderrotter The Shenandoah Valley is nestled in the Sierra Nevada Foothills. It is a beautiful valley of rolling hills and meandering streams. This majestic place is where gold was discovered back in the 1850s. Italian farmers came to this valley during the Gold Rush with the precious grapes of their homeland. Some of these 100+ year-old vines are still producing in Amador County- California's oldest red grape growing region. My wife, Maggie and I fell in love with the region when we began our search for Grape land eighteen years ago. We were lucky to find and procure 40 luscious acres of land in the Shenandoah Valley, and I started to fulfill my dream of becoming a premier wine grape grower. With the help of UC Davis courses in viticulture and enology, I learned what was needed in order to produce excellent grapes. Soon after we bought the land, I planted Zinfandel, Syrah, Barbera and Viognier grapes. I have combined the latest growing techniques with TLC to produce consistent, high quality grapes for excellent wines. We are excited about sharing our wines with new and old friends and hope you will try some Wilderrotter Wines along with the delicious recipes created especially for us by Lorraine Segil, the author of the Wilderrotter Winery Cookbook.
